Dear Judge,

I am a personal computer user as well as running an inner-city non profit which uses 10 computers. I have found that Microsoft a generous company for us.

However, I do not believe it to be in the benefit of users like me and my inner-city work to benefit from an environment of one company controlling the computer operating system market. Nor do I believe that it is beneficial to M.S. M.S. will benefit from a truly competitive market

Therefore, I want to express my concern about the PFJ as a good solution. Please consider this user as one who would not want this "judgement" enacted.

Thank you for your consideration. I am sure you will render the fair conclusion on PFJ.
